

Bush Tucker

EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOPS

Bush tucker, also called bush food, is food native to Australia. Aboriginal Australians have used indigenous plants for food and medicine for millennia.

In this one-hour workshop, school children and community groups of all ages will experience the diversity of Australian Aboriginal culture and food.

- Cultural significance of bush tucker
- Identify bush tucker species
- Edible and medicinal uses, of a range of species
- Bush tucker taste testing eg;
 - ~ Wattleseed Muffins
 - ~ Fresh Berries
 - ~ Strawberry Gum Infused Fruit
 - ~ Warrigal Greens Pesto
 - ~ Dried Pepper Berries
 - ~ Lemon Myrtle Cordial
- A bush tucker trivia game to revise lesson
- Plant examples to see, touch and smell
- Detailed notes on each bush tucker species
- Bush tucker recipes
- FREE Plants

Packages from $250.00

a garden for life

Narelle Happ 0404 123 747

native garden & permaculture designer

www.facebook.com.au/agardenforlife email: narelle@agardenforlife.com.au

a garden for life

Bush Tucker

www.agardenforlife.com.au

narelle@agardenforlife.com.au